

What are CEBS' Terms of Use?

Answer: Many data sets in CEBS are published, and when they are used, the users are requested to acknowledge the data sources and CEBS either by citation or in the acknowledgements section of their publications. Details on how to cite CEBS are provided in the FAQ How do I cite CEBS. Please inform us through at CEBS-Support@mail.nih.gov of any publication that uses CEBS data so that we can highlight it on our site.

Data sets not yet used in full publications are not available for downloading by other groups without prior written agreement of those who generated the data. It is often possible to obtain access to entire unpublished data sets or large subsets of data on a collaborative basis. Please contact the Principal Investigator listed with the Study.